Biodiversity Poem Activity

Want to learn about Biodiversity?
We'll teach you now like University,
Divide your garden into lots of squares,
Look inside each one and begin to stare,
Take notice of everything you see,
Now we're talking Biodiversity.

Take note of flora which means plants,
And fauna too – animals like ants,
Add them to a journal or a jotter,
We'd be highly surprised if you found an otter,
Common things are worms, snails and woodlice,
If you're extremely still and quiet,
you might even see mice.

There may also be nettles and daffodils,
And ivy growing up the windowsills,
Now it's done stick on the kettle for a cup of tea,
Because we've taught you the basics of Biodiversity.
